Gothic arch tracing/Central bearing apparatus

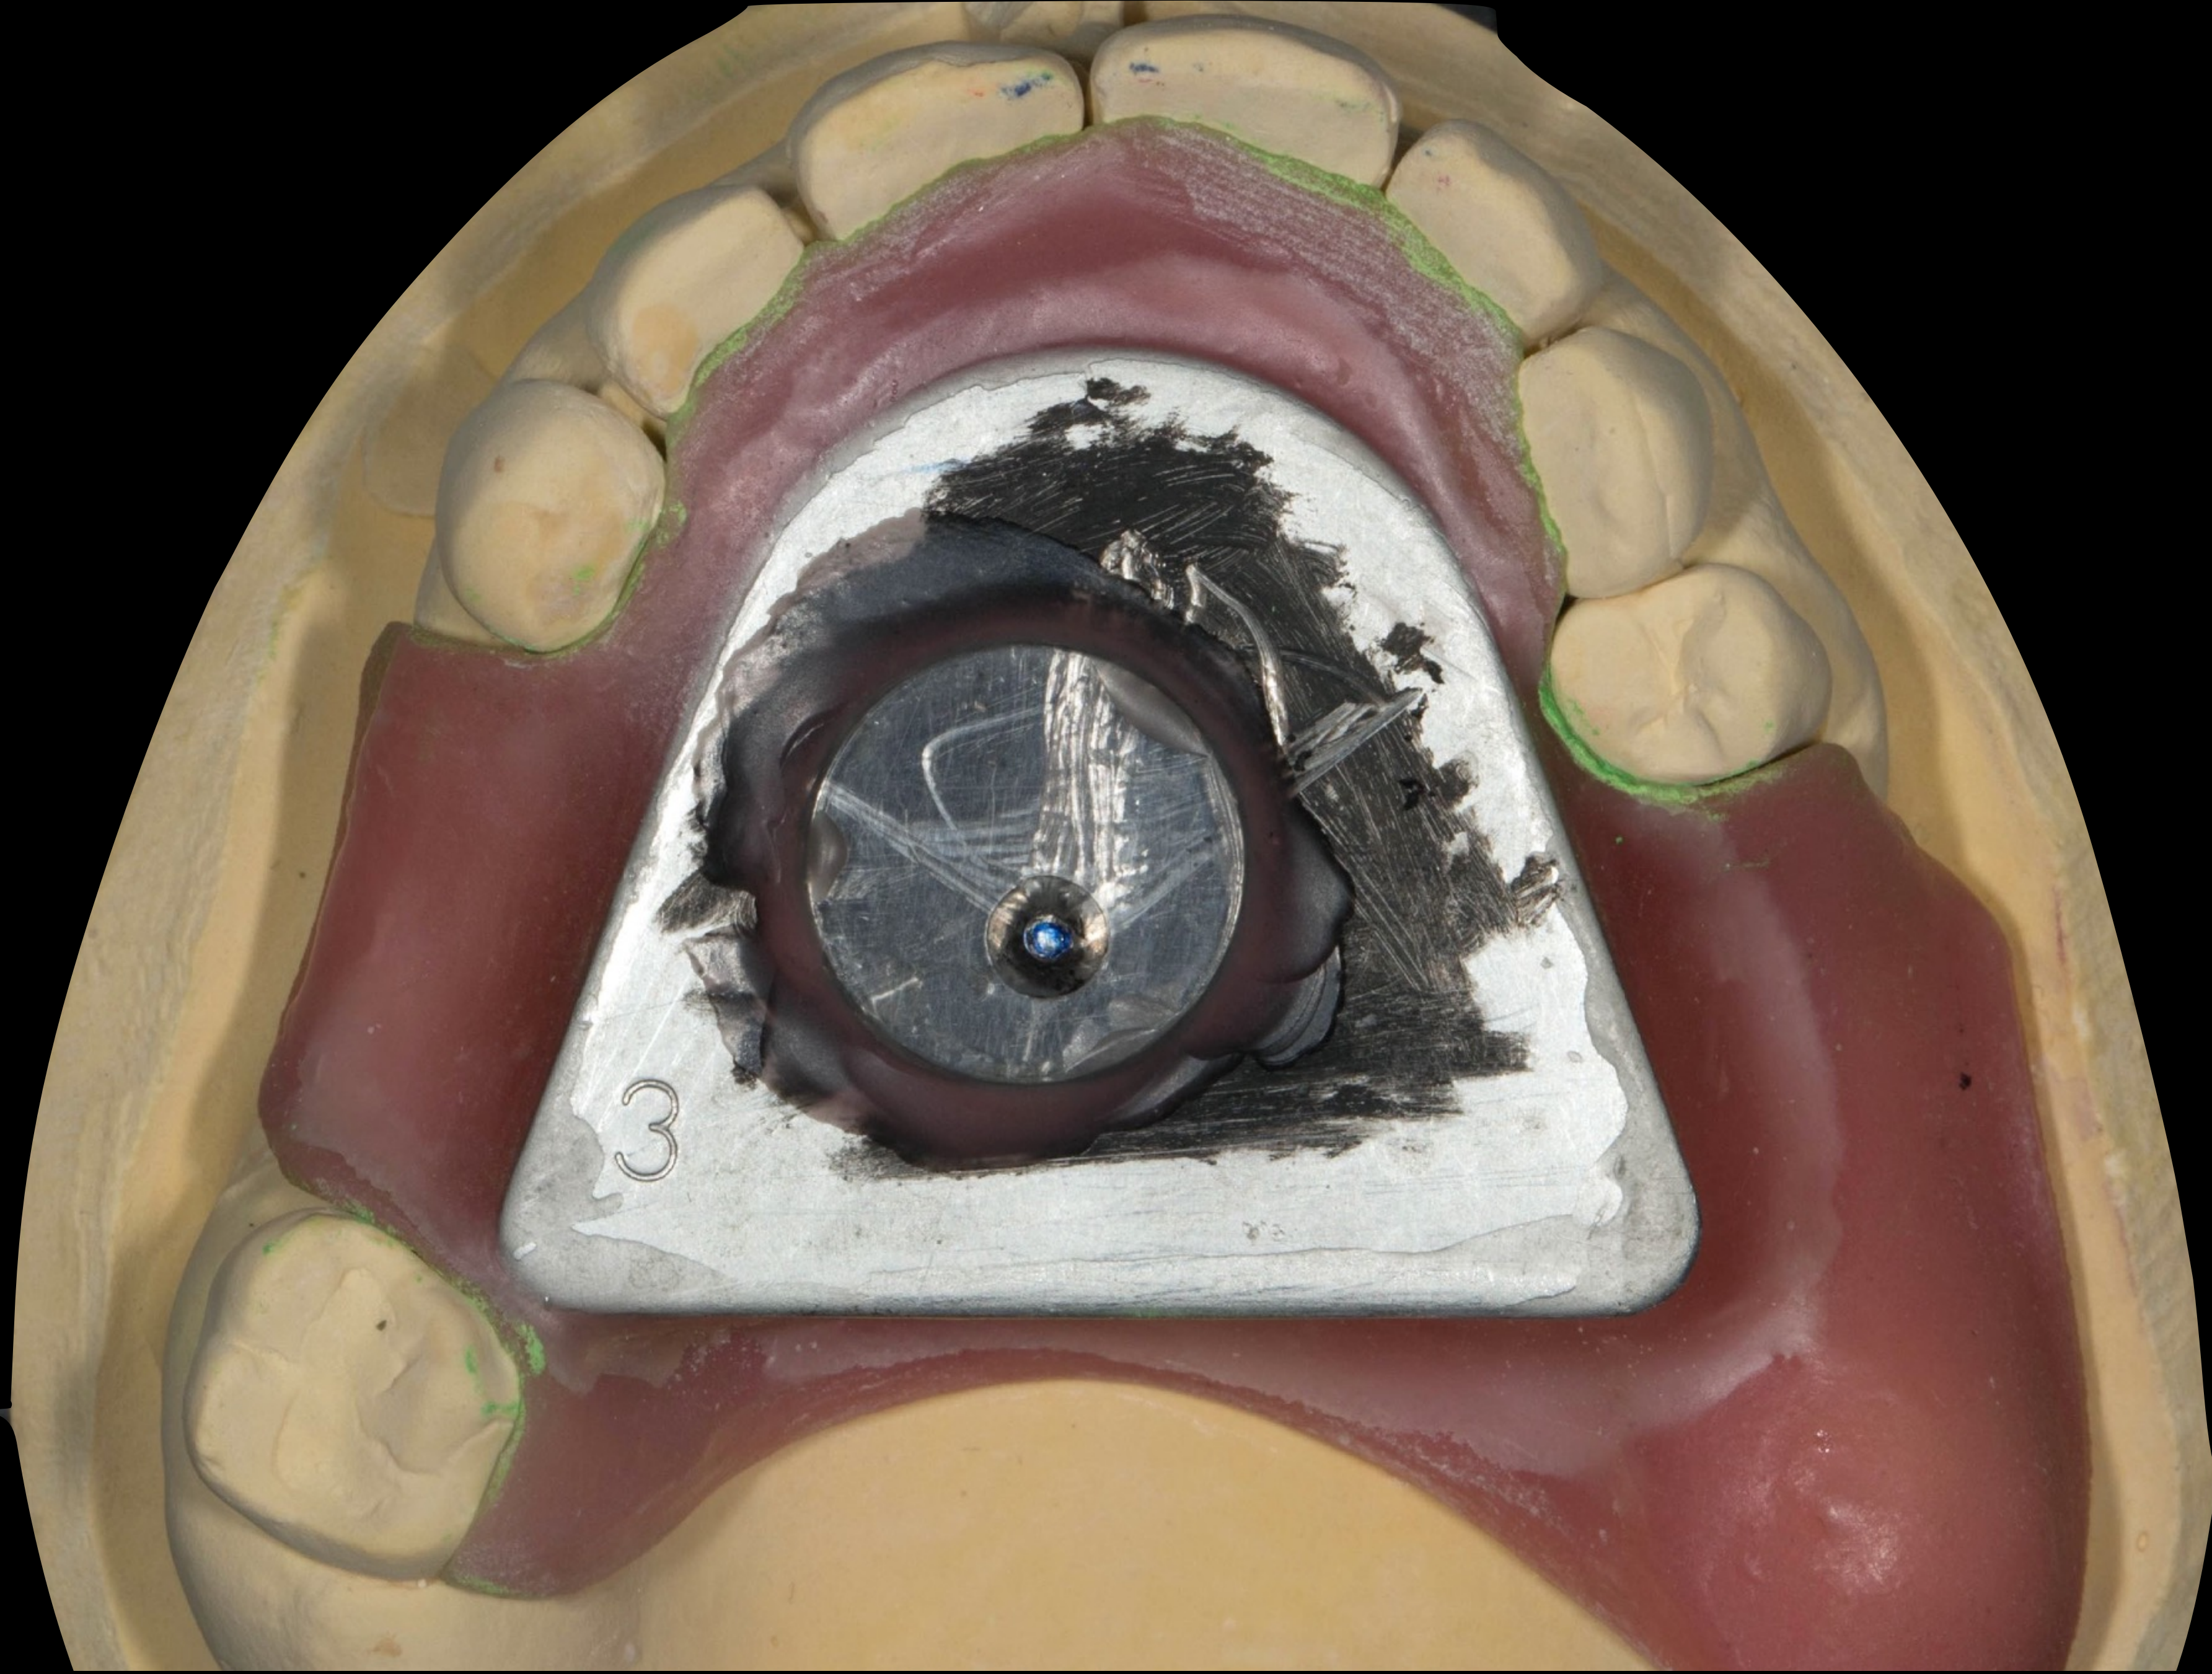

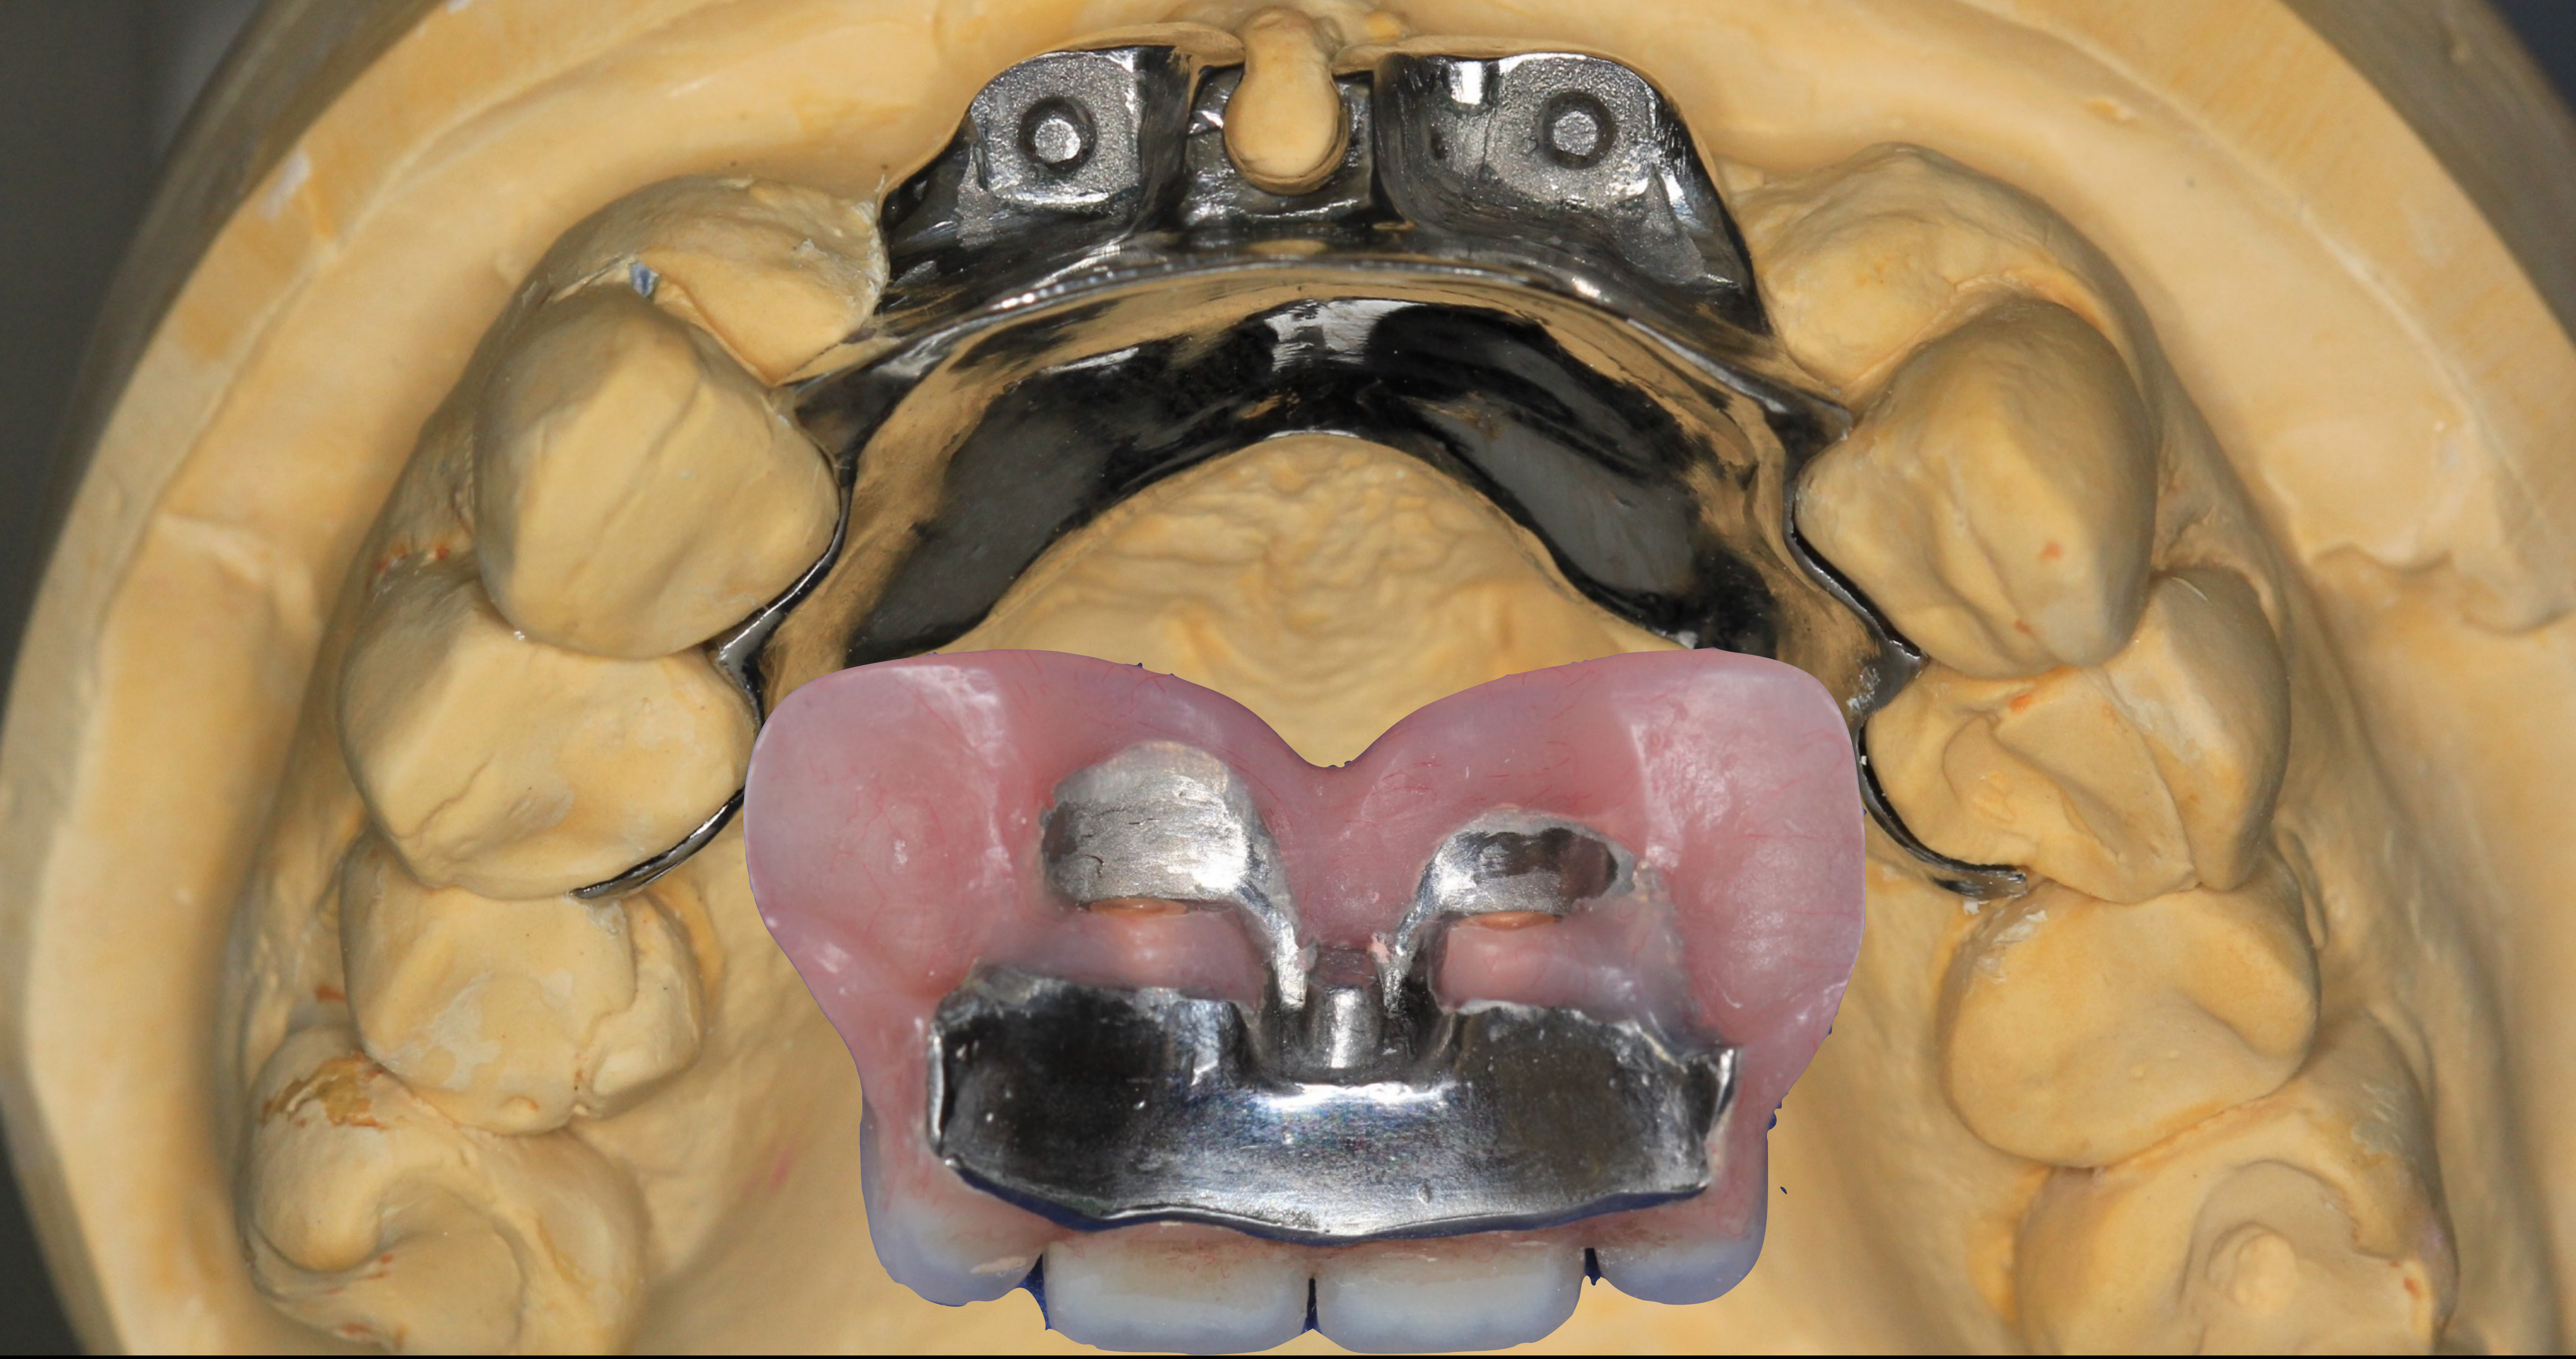

A clinical photograph of the upper dental arch. The central incisors are prominent, and a large, rounded, pinkish-red gingival growth (fibroma) is visible on the upper central incisor. The surrounding gingiva appears slightly inflamed. The text "Fin's fxxx up" is overlaid in the center of the image.

“Fin’s fxxx up”

A clinical photograph showing the upper dental arch. The teeth are yellowish and show signs of wear. There are several dental restorations, including a large metal crown on the left side and a gold crown on the right side. A prominent, red, swollen, and slightly raised area is visible on the gingiva (gum tissue) between the central incisors. A semi-transparent dark box is overlaid on the center of the image, containing white text.

A dental arch model, likely a maxillary (upper) arch, is shown. It features a metal framework with several circular holes, possibly for orthodontic or prosthetic purposes. The teeth are made of a light-colored material, possibly porcelain or acrylic. A purple rectangular box is overlaid on the center of the model, containing the text "Fin, you idiot!". In the lower right foreground, there is a dental handpiece and a small metal component, possibly a bur or a drill bit, lying on a white surface.

Fin, you idiot!
